Ninety degrees in the shade is not according to Vennor.

The annual maning of the American eagle will take place next Monday.

The most that the members of the New York Legislature are doing is pairing and going home.

The unpleasant consequences of resigning are keenly felt by Mr. Conkling after 29 joint ballots have been taken.

After a lapse of several days the rumor has been revived that there will be a break in the cabinet, and that MacVeagh will be asked to resign.

Mr. Starley, the man who invented the bicycle, died at his home near London, last week. In the estimation of bicycle makers, another great man has gone.

The population of the United Kingdom of Great Britain is about 35,000,000. This includes England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales. The increase in the past ten years has only been a little over 4,000,000.

Colonel Dudley, who will take charge of the pension bureau on the first of July will not be controlled by the horde of claim agents which infest Washington. If they begin a warfare upon him they will get the worst of the fight.

The travel to Europe is greater this summer than ever before known. Last Saturday 638 cabin passengers sailed in seven steamers for Europe, and many who desired to take passage were refused by all the lines, as all the cabin accommodations had been engaged.

Professor Klein, of Hartford, Kentucky, says the comet which now decorates the heavens, is not new to him, as he has gazed upon it ever since last September. He is of the opinion that the earth has passed through the tail of the comet, which has been the cause of so much snow and rain.

Up to the present time, there are eight Republican candidates for speaker of the next House of Representatives, and they are Keifer, of Ohio; Kasson, of Iowa; Hiseock, of New York; Robinson, of New Jersey; Hubbell and Burrows of Michigan; Reed, of Maine; and Orth of Indiana. There are three Democratic candidates, but the fact that Spear, of Georgia, has publicly declared that he will act with the Republicans, blasts, completely, the hopes of the Democrats.

The investigation at Albany may have made a bad smell, but there is no more evidence, now that the investigation is ended, than there was before, that any bribery was attempted. Mr. Bradley says the attempt was made by Mr. Sessions to bribe him, and Mr. Sessions swears to an entirely different statement. The testimony of one is as good as the testimony of the other. Some of Mr. Bradley's former business associates who would not believe him under oath, have sworn to that, and Mr. Sessions is a man whose reputation does not do him honor. Here the matter stands. There is no substantial testimony favoring one side or the other, and therefore the public must draw its own conclusion.

Governor Cornell, of New York, has been using the veto power with commendable zeal upon the veto bills that get through the Legislature of that State. His message vetoing the game bill is one of the most pointed public documents extant. It is refreshing to note the way the governor gathers up and crushes the several loose sections of the bill, and he talks to the Legislature just as a man would who did not care whether he was elected United States Senator or not.

And this is the man the Democratic press of the country libeled all during the campaign two years ago, and the Democrat was not without fault in this matter. But it is refreshing to see complimentary notices of Governor Cornell in Democratic newspapers. He deserves them all for the reason that he is a good executive. He is a young man of many fine parts, and his wealth and early associations have not spoiled him. He will make an excellent United States Senator and though he may probably be called a representative of the Conkling faction, he would yet dignify the office and make a Senator worthy the name.

In very many respects, the Atchison & Topoka and Santa Fe railway is enterprise and solidity, exceeds any new railway in the United States, and the fact that the three leading officers of the company are Rock county men, is worthy of special note. In speaking of these officers, the State Journal says: "Three of the leading officers of the Atchison, Topoka & Santa Fe Railroad company are Wisconsin men, namely: Wm. B. Strong, the Vice President and general manager; and one of the best, most active, and efficient railroad men in the country; George R. Peck, Esq., the superintendent attorney of the company, a lawyer who stands in the very first rank of his profession, and Albert A. Robinson, the chief engineer of the road, a man whose works show him to have no superior in his specialty. To draw the point a little finer, these are all Rock county men, and they are an honor to that county."

The situation at Albany is unsatisfactory as ever. In spite of the strong public sentiment against the present plan of proceeding in the Legislature, the Republican members continue to waste time and scatter their votes. It is perfectly plain to every man of very moderate observation, that the present course will never elect two United States Senators. If the fight is one of endurance and nothing else, the faction which will hold out the longest will win, but there is no sense in the statement that either will stick to the fight till next December. Unless the present dishonorable mode of proceeding which is becoming disgusting to the public, shall soon end, there will be an adjournment without an election, and then the dispute as to the wisdom of the resignations will be settled at the polls. In that event, while it is hoped that the party would unite and stop all personal wrangles, the result would be doubtful.

A STORM GATHERING.

Attorney General MacVeagh Must Retire from the Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—A crisis has indeed been reached in the cabinet, or, rather, in the case of the attorney general. There has been a storm gathering for some time, and complaints have been poured into the ears of the President till he has, unwillingly, been obliged to seriously consider the feasibility of a change. It is understood that Secretary Blaine has been convinced that, from a political standpoint, the selection was not the best that could have been made, and he openly advocated a change. The President is understood to hesitate to proceed to extremities in the matter for fear it might be interpreted by the people as an evidence that he was not in favor of pushing the star route investigation. A friend of the President said to-day that were it not for this he would not hesitate any longer. It is urged upon him, however, that the clamor, if any, upon this account, would be but transitory, because he could put a man in the position of such character as the public would accept as a guarantee of the most vigorous prosecution of the ringsters possible. The matter will be talked over to-morrow by the President and his advisers, and Wednesday it will be possible, in all probability, to announce the definite result. Mr. MacVeagh was away all last week, and was to be back to-morrow. It was announced to-night, however, that he will not return till Saturday. It is said that he has been informed that the President is considering the propriety of asking for his resignation, and is staying away until the matter can be settled. Secretary Lincoln and Mr. James are his friends especially, and even they will not offer to interpose if the President should decide upon the change. It is believed that, in case his resignation is asked for, William E. Chandler will probably be offered the position. In the meantime all is expectation in official circles, and the events of the next two days will be watched with curiosity.

NO CHANGE.

The Senatorial Deadlock at Albany Remains Unchanged.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 27.—The one ballot to-day was, as usual on Monday, of no significance, and there is nothing new in the situation to report. The deadlock seems as firm to-night as at any time since the contest began, although Depew's friends talk of important gains which are to be made this week. But this story, and in fact all others, are getting so familiar that no reliance is placed on them. The Bucks say that, if Depew would withdraw from the ticket, they believe an election could be obtained this week. On the other hand, the administration men assert that, if Conkling would only release his followers, the fight would end in less than twenty-four hours.

General Joseph Hawley, who has spent the evening with an old school mate, being on his way to Hamilton college commencement, has avoided all the politicians, and declines to give an opinion on the contest. He says, however, that the feeling down in Connecticut among all shades of Republicans is one way, against the re-election of Conkling and Platt. These two deserters turned up again to-night, and still talk in the same strain as for the past two or three weeks.

The grand jury brought in a verdict of sealed indictment this afternoon, and went out again. The indictments will not be opened until the prisoners are arraigned at the end of the week, when the grand jury finishes its labors. It is generally believed that the names of some of the persons connected with the bribery cases will be found in these indictments.

RUINOUS STORMS.

Wind, Rain, and Hail in Kansas—An Unprecedented Storm at the National Capital.

WICHITA, Kan., June 27.—One of the heaviest rain and wind storms ever known, accompanied by hail, passed over this section last Friday night. Five inches of water fell during the night, and reports which have since come in say a section of country ten miles wide and twenty miles long in area in the Kansas river valley west of here suffered very great damage. Thousands of acres of wheat, corn, and oats were cut down level with the ground by the hail. Even the prairie grass was mown clean. Orchards were stripped of their fruit. The wheat just stacked is soaked through and through, and many buildings are seriously injured. Only one death is reported, that of E. Pendegast, who was killed by lightning while standing at a window of his house.

Another storm, nearly as severe, swept over about the same section Saturday night, and did considerable additional damage. WASHINGTON, June 27.—A thunder-storm of unprecedented fury swept over this city to-night, commencing at 8 p. m. and lasting about an hour. While it continued nothing was heard but the roar of the wind, accompanied by blinding torrents of rain and occasional tempests of hailstones. Ford's opera house, the city hall, and a large number of residences were unroofed; shade trees were prostrated, and considerable damage was done to the fire alarm and other telegraph wires. Many collars in the southern portion of the city were flooded. The extent of the damage done to property in this city and Georgetown is variously estimated at $75,000 to $100,000. Considerable anxiety is felt for the safety of several excursion boats which left, well pointed down the river during the day and evening. It is feared that the storm in its passage southward, met them returning to Washington.

IDENTIFIED.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 27.—Dispatches from Kansas City say: The body of the man found in the river here last Friday turned out to be that of the Rev. Sydney M. Stray, who was expelled from the ministry by the Presbytery at Glen Falls, N. Y., June 14, for shooting his wife some time ago at Warrensburg, on Lake George, N. Y., where he was pastor of a fashionable church, and who afterwards confessed to sundry allegations of adultery. Stray has resided in Leavenworth since last March, where he held a position as a bookkeeper in a business house, but receiving a letter that his wife's brother had started west with the avowed intention of shooting him, he left Leavenworth, changed his name, and intended to secrete himself somewhere until his irate brother-in-law had visited Leavenworth and returned east. Coming to Kansas City, he must have fallen into a despondent mood and sought to drown his sorrows and troubles in stimulants. Temporary insanity followed, and a plunge into the river sealed his fate forever. The body was identified last night by A. A. Penn, a member of the city council of Leavenworth, and the Rev. R. B. Brown, pastor of the Congregational church of that city. Stray left Leavenworth June 5, and had not been heard from since. He went by the name of St. Clair, and was known as a quiet, industrious man. A number of letters have been received at Leavenworth since his departure from that city, some of which were opened by the coroner and revealed who the man was, and much of his history. His friends in the east have been telegraphed.

MATTERS AT MADISON.

MADISON, June 27.—The suit brought by William C. Kiser to oust George W. Weeks from the office of sheriff of this county has been discontinued. Kiser's claim was that the university students had no right to vote here. Weeks, on the other hand, had collected indubitable proof that a large number of non-resident railroad laborers had voted for Kiser, more than sufficient to balance the votes of the university students, and Kiser suddenly concluded to let the case drop.

Governor Smith to-day appointed Mr. Otto corner of Sheboygan county, vice Julius Breitman, deceased.

The total collection of the treasury agent from hawkers and peddlers during the fiscal year have been $10,488.14, fully 50 per cent larger than any year previous.

Articles of association of the Eau Claire chilled plow company were filed to-day in the department of State. The capital stock is 10,000 dollars; Noah Thow and George P. Thow are the incorporators.

FATAL ACCIDENTS.

MILWAUKEE, June 27.—Anton Planestel was dashed to death in F. Wurm's steam cigar factory this morning while at work near a pulley that was revolving 200 times a minute. He was caught in it and it was fully a minute before the engine could be stopped. His body was terribly crushed and mutilated.

MILWAUKEE, June 27.—A boy named Chris Schramm, about 14 years of age, was a victim to a fearful but queer accident yesterday. He with other boys was pushing a wagon in sport down a hill just outside of the city, when the tongue broke and the vehicle plunged along down the incline. Chris fell backward at the moment of the accident, his body lodging against a tree. The wagon rushed on and also struck the tree. The poor boy, unable to escape, had his head literally crushed between the tree and one of the wheels of the wagon. He was killed instantly. The sight was a horrifying one, and nearly transfixed the boy's companions with terror.

AN OLD STORY REVIVED.

How a Pennsylvania Lawyer was Arrested as the Assassin of Abraham Lincoln.

From the Denver Tribune. "Those are not cheerful-looking things, are they?" said Counselor M. A. MacDonald as he sauntered into the office of the United States marshal a few days ago and pointed to a pair of handcuffs which were lying upon the table.

"Not especially enlivening," replied a deputy, picking up the rogue's bracelets and examining them thoughtfully.

"There was one time that I thought they were the most cheerless and terrible things in the world."

"Yes," continued Mr. MacDonald, "I had them on both hands and feet at once for a number of hours. I assure you they are not pleasant things to wear."

"Were they put on to keep you a prisoner?" queried the deputy, wondering if his friend could have done anything criminal.

"You would have thought so had you been in my place. I was arrested by officers who thought I was J. Wilkes Booth."

"No!" ejaculated the deputy, more as an expression of surprise than an intentional reflection upon the veracity of Mr. MacDonald.

"It came about in this way," began the lawyer, whose dark hair and eyes, even now that sixteen years had passed, bear a striking resemblance to the assassin of Lincoln. "Lincoln had been murdered but a few days, and the entire country was plunged in grief and a desire for revenge upon the murderer. My home was in Titusville, Penn., and I was on my way to it from Washington, where my father was then a government contractor. The route was by the way of Erie. The train had left Erie and gone perhaps a dozen miles, when a couple of officers surprised me by putting me under arrest and clapping handcuffs on my wrists and manacles on my feet. In vain I protested. They would not believe that I was not Wilkes Booth. To add to the unpleasantness of the thing, and a fact which also gave color to the belief that I was the president's assassin, it was well known that Booth had interests in the oil regions of Pennsylvania, and had been there a number of times. The men who arrested me did so upon the strength of my great resemblance to a picture of Booth which they had in their possession. When it became known on the train that the assassin of Lincoln had been arrested and was on this very train the excitement was intense. The officers who were guarding me had all they could do to prevent the infuriated passengers from doing me bodily harm. It had been telegraphed along the line of the road that Lincoln's murderer was under arrest, and would pass through on his way to Titusville. At every station the train was met by infuriated men who climbed upon woodpile to get a glimpse of me, and many times on that journey I feared that the mob would get possession of me. When the train reached Corry there was a man boarded the train who knew me. But the officers would not listen to him, and it was not until Titusville was reached, where every man, woman and child knew me, that the handcuffs and manacles were removed from my wrists and ankles and I was allowed my liberty. I have the photograph which furnished the clue to the officers who arrested me in my possession."

FACTS AND FIGURES.

—The average yield of Indian corn per acre throughout the United States is 29.2 bushels.

—An evaporating establishment at Spencerport, N. Y., last fall evaporated 15,654 bushels of apples and shipped them in fifty-pound boxes to Russia.

—A Georgia farmer found that his land would no longer bear good crops of corn and cotton, and he planted twenty-five acres with pear trees. His profits are $400 an acre.

—The Christian at Work avers there are few holders in a New York City church, who, under an old church charter, pay but $50 rental yearly for pews to Europe, year or two more, and let their pews for $400 or $500 a year, and pocket the difference.

—Examinations of samples of milk obtained from many stores in New York City by the officers of the Board of Health lead to the conclusion that about one-fourth of it was water added by dealers, who were thus making the people pay about $12,000 per day for Croton.

—According to a paper by Dr. Beddoe, which is supported by statistics from all parts of England, the size of the average Englishman's head is less by a seventh of an inch than it was a quarter of a century ago. A contrary belief has hitherto obtained.

—The State Geologist of Colorado, Prof. J. Alden Smith, gives the information that the mineral yield of Gilpin County is $335 annually, for every man, woman and child in the county. This is quadruple the production per capita of the best agricultural county in the whole country.

—The plans for the new Tay Bridge are now completed. The foundation piers are of brick to the height of about nine feet above high water. On these the supporting columns are to be placed. Over the navigable part of the river the spans will be fifty-eight feet six inches in height. The new bridge will be immensely strong and it is thought that the fiercest gale will not have the least effect on it.

—The great Arlberg tunnel, one of the longest in the world, is announced as begun. On the western side of the Arlberg the progress of boring is seriously retarded by the rush of quantities of water; on the eastern side the rock is a micaceous slate, which allows rapid work. It seems that the geologists advised that the tunnel be bored through a lower stratum of rocks of denser material and free from water, but their advice was disregarded.

—There are now under cultivation around Charleston, S. C., within a convenient distance from the railroad, depots and wharves, about 250 acres of strawberries, which will, with a favorable season, furnish for shipment to New York alone 1,000,000 quarts of berries; about 1,500 acres of potatoes, with an aggregate probable out-turn of 60,000 barrels; about 300 acres of tomatoes, and about the same number of acres in peas and beans. These farms are highly cultivated, and are a source of great profit to the owners when they can get the crops to market early in the season. The strawberry crop, which is the most valuable, is well advanced, and the season promises to be early, and, consequently, profitable.

FASHION NOTES.

Enormous rings are once more fashionable for ladies.

The new bonnets are large, small and medium, to suit all faces.

Princess dresses are revived both for long and short costumes.

Sarah silk is to take the place of satin de Lyon for summer wear.

Modified poke bonnets, extremely small at the sides, will be worn.

The Gainsborough hat has its wide, soft brim untried this season.

Gold, steel and silver will be worn more than jet and colored bead embroidery.

Ladies with narrow shoulders should avoid hoods, but wear small capes instead.

Black velvet ribbon is worn like a bracelet above the elbow with short-sleeved dresses.

Petticoats are made of foulard satin and silk, and have flat lace flounces or ruffles at the bottom.

The old bishop sleeve, gathered at the shoulder and at the wrist, is seen on a few of the latest dresses.

Very few overskirts are now worn; the trimmed skirt has all the effect of an overskirt, and is more desirable as to economy.

New styles of linen collars are simply straight bands fastened with a gold button. The ends are slightly curved and are made to lap.

The passion for steel-color and silver is growing more and more marked; modistes seem impatient to try against it the effect of every color.

The front skirts of dresses are a good deal trimmed and invariably draped, while the back remains perfectly plain, many times without any bottom trimming.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

—A bust of Carlyle is to go into the poet's corner in Westminster Abbey.

—Journalism pays in France. Emile de Girardin died leaving over a million dollars.

—His doctors have declared that in order to restore his health, the Pope must leave Rome during the summer months.

—Victor Hugo, who writes so feelingly about the trials of the poor, is a rich man, it seems, his interest in a single bank amounting to over a third of a million dollars.

—M. Cabanel has painted a picture of Miss Mackay, daughter of Bonanza Mackay, for the Paris salon this season. She is represented as a young girl with fair hair, in a white dress against a blue ground, with a halo round her head. The work is said to remind one of a virgin on the stained-glass window of some old cathedral.

—Newspaper trains start daily at 5:15 a. m. from four great railway termini in London and deliver the metropolitan papers in all the cities of England before noon. The circulation of the great dailies has been thereby increased. The Telegraph circulates 250,000 copies daily, the Standard 180,000, the Daily News 170,000, the Times 100,000.

—The Earl of Shrewsbury, who received a well-merited thrashing from the gentleman with whose wife he eloped, is only twenty years of age. His grandfather obtained, by decision of the House of Lords, the title of Earl of Shrewsbury and the estates which had been left by the late Roman Catholic Earl to Lord Edmond Howard, the second son of the late Duke of Norfolk. He is the youth with whom it was falsely reported Mrs. Langtry had eloped. His sister, Lady Castlereagh, is regarded as the beauty of the London season.

—Of the late Lord Beaconsfield a London correspondent writes: As a young man, the extravagance of his dress and the smartness of his conversation made him known in society. A friend of mine remembers his appearing thus at a dinner party. In a black velvet coat, lace ruffles, black waistcoat with a striking yellow embroidered design like a huge sunflower, dove-colored trousers, patent-leather shoes, a half score of rings, and two or three long gold chains displayed on his waistcoat, showing several handsome cameos. The lady whom he was escorting to dinner said, "Ben, this is too bad; are you a Lord Mayor or a mountebank?" This youthful extravagance involved him in debt, and when he married a large part of his wife's fortune was required to meet his liabilities; yet he was never so poor as stated in some papers.

—Among all European countries France is the one in which the taxes are paid most punctually and cheerfully. In contrast, Englishmen are great grumblers and Italians are always in arrears, their Treasury invariably being one-fourth short of its dues.

—GERMAN ivy grows freely from the slip, though a well-strained plant may be bought of a florist for a mere trifle, thus saving much valuable time in the raising.

—Castor oil will soften leather.

—Blue ointment and kerosene, mixed in equal proportions, and applied to bedsteads, is an unfailing bug remedy; and a coat of whitewash is ditto for wooden walls.

—Wet, damp pastures are fatal to sheep. They are able to procure a subsistence on very poor pastures, but such pastures should be dry.

—To keep a gun from rusting, clean the barrel occasionally and cover the exposed portions of the metal with a film of linseed oil. For lubricating the lock, purified olive or sperm oil is best.

—To cook a duck satisfactorily, boil it first until tender; this can be determined by trying the wing, as that is always a tough part of a fowl. When tender take it out, rinse it in clean water, stuff and put it in the oven for about three-quarters of an hour, basting it often.

—Whipped Cream.—Place the cream where it will become thoroughly chilled, and whip with an eggbeater. Should the cream be difficult to bring to a froth beat it with the white of an egg. While whipping take off the froth and place it on a sieve, rewhipping all that passes through. Sweeten and flavor. Use with strawberry shortcake, or with sweetened strawberries.

—Treatment of Windgalls.—If the windgalls are present and are not old ones they may be treated by applying a strong solution of alum by means of a folded piece of cloth dipped in it and bound upon the swelling. With this pressure may be applied by means of pads bound on the puffs with bandages, keeping them on two hours a day at first, and gradually increasing the time until they can be borne continuously. If the pads are made so that the pressure of the pads should be removed for a time.—N. Y. Times.

—Almond cookies are very nice. This rule will make a large quantity, and may of course be varied to suit your needs: Two pounds of butter, three pounds of sugar, one pound of almonds blanched and chopped, cut in halves or pounded, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of saleratus, one cup of boiling water, one lemon, one dozen eggs, knead in flour enough to make the dough as stiff as cookie dough should be, roll out in fancy shapes, and after they are in the tin sprinkle the almonds thickly over them.

—The chief cause of sore shoulders from harness galls is imprudent management, by working horses in bad fitting collars, and neglecting to keep them properly clean, especially in warm weather. In the treatment of galled shoulders it is essential that the animal should have freedom from work, as it would be almost impossible to heal the wound of any wound until the cause which produced it was entirely removed. The following is an excellent healing lotion for all kinds of harness galls: Sugar of lead, one oz.; alum and white vitriol, of each one oz.; water, one pint; mix and apply two or three times a day with a sponge.—Farmer's Review.

—Every summer we hear of deaths caused by the use of ice water; even the drinking of large quantities of cold water from the well, when one is overheated, is often injurious. It is better to drink moderate quantities of water frequently than to wait until one is excessively thirsty, and then take ice water or even very cold well-water. Water may be kept sufficiently cool by covering the jug or other vessel with cloths which are to be kept moist. Nothing is better in the hay-field than the old-fashioned "water" consisting of molasses and water, with enough vinegar to give a pleasant sharpness; some ginger is usually added. This satisfies thirst and is always very welcome to the hands, who appreciate any such provision for comfort.

Irregular Teeth.

Occasionally in horses we meet with an excessive length of the front teeth. But in such cases the direction of the teeth is such that the upper row overlaps the lower, and what is termed a parrot mouth. Besides being unsightly, this condition interferes more or less with the ability of the horse to bite off grass; but it does not interfere materially with his picking up the food from the manger, or the hay from the rack, nor does such irregularity interfere in any manner with the function of the grinders. The approximating surface of the front teeth and those of the grinders are always worn off at the same ratio; hence such a thing as the grinders not being able to meet, on account of the length of the front teeth, is entirely out of the question, and nothing whatever would be gained by rasping the front teeth. That the horse lets partly chewed food drop out of the mouth, is one of the symptoms of the presence of a diseased or decaying grinder, or the existence of sharp or projecting points, or rather irregularities in the upper or lower row of grinders. Such sharp or projecting points are often the cause of considerable injury to the inner surface of the cheek or the tongue, and this, or the presence of a decaying tooth, sometimes produces much inconvenience or pain, such as will cause the horse to drop the partly chewed food. Undoubtedly a careful examination of the grinders will reveal one or two of these conditions, which may be remedied by the aid of a tooth-rasp used for such purposes, and in the case of a carious tooth, it may be necessary to extract the same and plug the cavity.—Prairie Farmer.

Gardens for Children.

All children love flowers, and take delight in cultivating them if given the opportunity. How infinitely more entertaining such a study as botany or vegetable physiology might be made if the dry teaching of the class-room and lesson-book were illustrated by the plants that were being coaxed into bloom in their own flower-beds. What a pretty combination of outdoor and indoor employment, again, for a child to cultivate flowers, and then to draw them in outline as they come into bloom. What could possibly be more healthful and wholesome occupation for an intelligent child than to collect the prettiest of wild flowers from their native pastures and hedgerows, and cultivate them in the "wild garden" at home? All sorts of knowledge might be gathered up in such a pursuit, involving as it would the necessity for observations of the favorite haunts of the various flowers, the effects of different soils, their mode of propagation, seasons of bloom, etc., and the inquiry might often be made to lead away into collateral topics—the folk-lore associated with them, fairy tales and poet fancies and historical associations. Then, again, how easy and appropriate to make flowers the means of drawing out sympathy with neighbors, or with the sick and suffering at a distance. And again, the cultivation of flowers always exercises a refining influence.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC—There is an erroneous impression prevalent in a degree in this community, namely: That I do not administer nitrous oxide gas for the painless extraction of teeth, and to correct that false impression, I take this opportunity to state that I do administer nitrous oxide gas for the painless extraction of teeth, and have done so for a number of years past, for the accommodation of my patients, reports to the contrary notwithstanding; yet making little or no effort to advertise it. I would say further that nitrous oxide is the only gas administered by any dentist in this or any place for the purpose of producing a state of insensibility to pain during the operation of extraction whether administered under the name of "protoxide of nitrogen," "vitalized air," or "laughing gas" each term meaning one and the same thing, namely, nitrous oxide gas. And to correct another false impression I will state that I do not administer either chloroform or ether, but whenever used in my office as an anesthetic it is administered by a competent physician, preferably the family physician of the patient. Trusting that the above is sufficient to correct all false impressions, I remain and Rock county now has at Madison more patients than its share.

It is intended therefore to throw back upon the county's care this number, and with those now here, there will be about thirty to look after. The matter seems to demand immediate action, for if the Board does not act upon it until its winter meeting there can be no buildings erected until next year, and the county's issue will in the meantime be provided for in other counties, and the expenses of the same charged up to this county.

PERSONAL.

—Rev. Henry Sewell, of Whitewater, was in the city to-day.

—Dr. Burras returned yesterday from a business trip, and will be in his office for a few days.

—George W. Peck writes to W. T. Vankirk that if the walking is anyways good,

he will be at the Rock county fair.

—Major J. M. May, of Cedar Rapids,

Iowa, made us a call this morning. Some time since we published a list of Janesville inventors, in our columns, including

Miller's famous ear-compler, platform and buffer, now so universally used, but through inadvertence omitted the name of Mr. May, who was a resident of Janesville from 1844 to 1871, when he went to Iowa to attend to his interests, (chiefly real estate,) in that prosperous commonwealth. During his residence here he was a pioneer manufacturer and inventor, having patented three improvements in steel plows, and machinery for making rock crushers, &c., to the number in all of more than a dozen patents, some of which have proved very useful, notably, the steel plow, one of which from his manufactory in this city took the first premium, at the 3d annual exhibition of the mechanics' institute in Chicago in 1850, over those manufactured in that and in neighboring cities, and the same perfection of form and construction attained by a Janesville inventor at that early day enters into the best makes of plows at the present time. May we not then add Mr. May's name to the list of Janesville inventors.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVYNSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 89 degrees above; at 1 o'clock A.

M. to-day at 71 degrees above; at 7 o'clock

A. M. at 73 degrees above; and at 1 o'clock P. M. at 89 degrees above. Partly cloudy.

The indications to-day are, partly cloudy weather, occasional rains, winds, mostly westerly, stationary or higher temperature, and barometer.

THE HUMAN HAIR.

How to Preserve and Beautify It.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCO-

NUT, a compound of Coconut Oil, etc.,

is universal as a dressing for the hair, is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS,

for they are the best.

WHERE IS THE SHOW?

The following is the latest concerning the route to be followed by the Burr Robbins and Colvin shows, in which so many people feel interested:

June 30—Coldwater, Michigan.

July 1—Mishawaka, Indiana.

July 2—La Porte, Indiana.

July 3—Elkhart, Indiana.

July 4—Wabash, Indiana.
